4. Investment Fund

- A) Investment in the Fund is considered a high-risk investment in view of its investment in buying and selling gold, and the fund is likely to be exposed to fluctuations in gold prices due to the nature of the Fund's investments.
- B) The past performance of the investment Fund or the index's past performance does not indicate what the Fund's or index's performance will be like in the future.
- C) The Fund does not guarantee to Unitholders that the Fund's performance (or its performance compared to the index) will be repeated or be similar to past performance in the future.
- D) Investment in the Fund is not considered a deposit with any local bank that markets or sells securities or is affiliated with the investment Fund.

- E) Investors in the Fund may be exposed to the risks of partial or total financial losses resulting from their investments in the Fund's units.
- F) A list of the main potential risks associated with investing in the investment Fund, the risks to which the investment Fund is exposed, and any circumstances that may affect the Fund's net asset value and returns:
- Undervalued investment risks:
If the price of the gold commodity drops substantially and the gold commodity does not recover to its previous prices, the Fund's net asset value will decrease according to the decrease in the price of the gold commodity.
 - Demand for the gold commodity risk:
The gold commodity market, like any other commodity market, goes through periods in which the demand for it increases and goes through periods of stagnation. The supply and demand of the gold commodity is affected by several factors, including: the forward sale of gold by the mines and producers of the gold commodity, the purchase and sale of gold by central banks, the factors of production of gold commodity mines including energy costs and wages, and all economic and political conditions in the major gold-producing countries. When the demand for the gold commodity decreases or the supply increases, this will lead to a decrease in the price of the gold commodity and thus a decrease in the value of the Fund's assets.
 - Currency risk:
The Fund's currency is the US Dollar and all the Fund's investments are in US Dollars. When the investor subscribes in a currency other than the fund currency, it will be converted into the US dollar. The price of the gold commodity currency XAU/USD is affected by changes in currency exchange rates, which negatively affect the value of the Fund's investments and the unit price. For a subscriber whose base currency is not the US dollar, fluctuations in the exchange rate of the US dollar against its base currency will negatively affect the value of its investments in the Fund in the base currency.
 - Sharia risk:
These risks are represented in the fact that the Fund invests in the gold commodity and investment Funds that are compatible with Sharia standards compared to traditional investment funds. In the event that one of the funds in which the Fund invests does not comply with some Sharia standards, the Fund will dispose of it by redeeming it, which will result in losses in the event that it is sold at a price lower than the price at which it was subscribed.
 - Systemic risk:
Systemic risk arises as a result of the issuance of new regulations, legislation or laws, or changes in the current legislation or laws in the countries of the gold commodity providers or the Funds' countries in which the Fund invests, which negatively affects the Fund's investments.
 - Liquidity risk:
Liquidity refers to the speed and ease with which an asset can be sold and converted into cash without losses in its fair market value. For markets with high fluctuations such as fluctuations in periods of political instability or sudden changes in interest rates and prices, this leads to difficulty in selling the gold commodity or investments at a fair price which results in a loss or a decrease in the fund's return.
 - Inability of recovery risk:
It is possible that the Fund Manager will not be able to meet all the requests for recovery if the total value of those requests reaches 10% or more of the Fund's net asset value, or if it is unable to liquidate some of its investments as a result of weak or lack of trading in the markets designated for those investments. The delay in fulfilling the recovery requests negatively affects the Fund's size and continuity.
 - Market risk:
Market risk is the risk of investing in the financial and gold commodity markets. Where the prices of the gold commodity or the market value of the Fund's investments rise and fall due to developments that occur in the gold commodity markets or in the markets invested by other funds, general market conditions, interest rates, or exchange rates. The market value also changes due to changes in general economic and financial conditions. When economic conditions occur that lead to a decline in gold commodity prices, this will negatively affect the value of the Fund's assets.

- Counterparty risk:
These are the risks related to the possibility that any of the contracted financial institutions will not fulfill their contractual obligations with the Fund Manager in accordance with the agreed terms, and these risks apply to the Fund during investing in money market instrument fund operations or buying and selling the gold commodity. Any failure by the parties the Fund deals with will negatively affect the Fund's investments and performance.
- Gold commodity quality risk:
The Fund Manager is not specialized in dealing in gold commodity, and since gold commodity bullion vary in purity (percentage of impurities), the provider of gold commodity (AFG Bank Switzerland) will be relied upon to provide gold commodity bullion (based on the specification of gold commodity specified by the indicative index followed by the Fund) of 999.9 purity, bearing in mind that the non-compliance of the gold commodity provider or its failure to deliver the quantity of gold commodity of 999.9 purity, which is equal to the net quantity of the gold commodity recovered and owed to the seekers of in-kind recovery will result in claims by Unitholders.
- Preservation and storage risk:
These are the risks that arise because gold commodity bullion held by the sub-custodian on behalf of the Fund may be damaged as a result of natural events (e.g., earthquake) or as a result of human actions (e.g., terrorist attack or theft). Any of these events will have a negative impact on the Fund's investments and the value of its units.
- Natural disaster risks:
Volcanoes, earthquakes, hurricanes, floods and other natural phenomena cause property damage and cannot be controlled, which negatively affects economic sectors, the gold market and the Fund's performance.
- Gold Commodity Provider Risks:
These are the risks related to the possibility that the contracted gold commodity provider will not fulfill its contractual obligations with the Fund manager in accordance with the terms agreed upon between them, as its non-compliance will have a negative impact on the Fund's investments.
- Tax and Zakat risks:
Tax and zakat risk is the possibility that the Fund will pay or account for an incorrect amount of tax or zakat, in addition to the risk of changing the rules and regulations related to calculating taxes or zakat, which will lead to losses on the Fund due to the increase in the value of taxes or zakat higher than expected.
- Risks of in-kind recovery:
The provider of gold commodity (AFG Bank Switzerland) will be relied upon for in-kind recovery requests to provide the gold commodity bullion. In the event of the inability to deliver the gold commodity bullion as a result of the conditions of the gold commodity market or the non-fulfillment or failure of the gold commodity provider, which negatively affects the Fund's reputation and its continuity.
- Risks of investing in other mutual Funds:
In the event that the Fund invests in other investment Funds, all the previously mentioned risks also apply to those Funds.

5. Risk Assessment Mechanism

The Fund Manager acknowledges that there is an internal mechanism to assess the risks related to the Fund's assets.

6. The target group for investing in the Fund

7. Investment Restrictions/Limits

The Fund Manager shall abide by the restrictions that apply to the Fund contained in the Funds Regulations, the Fund's Terms and Conditions, the Fund's Shariah Board controls.

8. Fund currency

A) A hypothetical table showing the ratio of the Fund's costs to the total value of the Fund's assets at the level of the Fund and the Unit Holder during the life of the Fund:

Calculated on the basis of the unit holder's subscription of $50,000 for a year, and the total value of the Fund's assets is $10 million. Assuming that the return of the Fund in this hypothetical year is 10.00

	Fund	Unit holder

D) Consideration against transactions prescribed on subscription, recovery and transfer of ownership paid by unit holders, and the method of calculating that consideration:

Consideration	How to calculate it
Subscription fees	Not applicable.
Recovery fee	There is no recovery fee for the investor when redeeming cash
Physical redemption:	Fees will be imposed only upon the investor's request for physical redemption, as it is deducted by the fund manager and paid in full to the sub-custodian, as follows:
1) Transfer fee for recovered gold	Not applicable. The customer will bear any expenses if he requests the transfer of gold within Switzerland. Whereas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Total in-kind recovery value in US dollars = the US dollar price of the gold commodity per ounce at the assessment point after the day of the recovery multiplied by the total recoverable quantity of the gold commodity in ounces. Net recovery value in US dollars = total recovery value in US dollars - fees and charges for in-kind recovery in US dollars. Net Quantity of Commodity Gold Recovered in ounces = Net in kind recovery value in US dollars / Price of Commodity Gold in US Dollars per ounce at the point of assessment. The net amount of commodity gold recovered in ounce must be no less than 32.15 ounce, which is equivalent to 1 kilogram of commodity gold. The transportation fee for the in-kind recovery is deducted from the total value of the in-kind recovery in US dollars. The quantity of the gold commodity in ounces = the quantity of the gold commodity in kilos * 32.15 The net amount recovered from the gold commodity in the form of gold bars shall be delivered to the applicant for in-kind recovery, as one bar of the gold commodity contains 1 kilogram of the gold commodity. In the event that the net quantity recovered from the gold commodity in kilograms (the quantity of the gold commodity in ounces /32.15) contains fractions (that is, it is not sufficient to recover the value of the gold commodity/one gold bar), the value of the fractions will be paid in cash to the applicant for in-kind recovery according to the price of the gold commodity in US dollars per ounce in assessment point. The amount paid in cash to the in-kind recovery applicant is calculated as follows:

	- Fractions in the net recoverable amount of the gold commodity in kilograms * 32.15* the price of the gold commodity in US dollars per ounce at the assessment point.
2) In-kind custody fees	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 0.5% of the total value of the in-kind recovery in US dollars calculated for each assessment day, from the assessment day following the day of the in-kind recovery request to the day when the customer's account is opened in the bank to receive the quantities of the gold commodity due to the applicant for in-kind recovery, where the value of the in kind custody fees is deducted out of the total value of the in kind recovery in US dollars. • In-kind custody fees are calculated for the period from the assessment day that follows the day of the in-kind recovery request to the day the customer's account is opened in the bank as follows: Total value of the in kind recovery in US dollars* 0.5% * (number of assessment days from the assessment day to the day the customer's account is opened in the bank/365) • Any day on which the in-kind recovery applicant fails to receive the net quantity of gold commodity due to him on the recovery day specified by the Fund manager, he will be charged 0.5% of the total value of the in-kind recovery in US dollars calculated for each assessment day and paid by the in-kind recovery applicant in cash. The Fund manager is obligated to pay the unit holders the returns of the in-kind recovery before the closing time of the work on the thirtieth day following the assessment point at which the recovery price was set as a maximum, in the event of the initial acceptance by the bank of the “know your customer” requirements, which takes a maximum of five working days, and in the event of rejection for reasons such as, but not limited to, the customer’s identity proofs are not valid, or there is no compatibility between the net wealth and the disclosed source of income, or there is no compatibility between the net income and the disclosed job information, the customer will be informed and the recovery will be limited to cash recovery and it will be within five working days. • The in-kind preservation fee is calculated during the delay period of the in-kind recovery applicant for receiving the quantities of gold commodity due to him as follows: Total In-Kind Recovery Amount in USD* 0.5% * (Number of Assessment Delay Days/365)
3) Dealing fees	It may reach 0.5% of the total value of the in-kind recovery in US dollars, depending on market conditions, as it is deducted from the total value of the in-kind recovery in US dollars.
Transfer Fee	The fund manager does not allow the transfer of ownership of units to other investors.

The following is a hypothetical example of physical redemption fees and expenses calculated on the basis that the price of the gold commodity in dollars per ounce on the valuation day following the physical redemption request is $ 1,500. The number of calendar days from the valuation day to the day that was determined to receive the net recovered gold commodity is 25 days, and total quantity of the recovered gold commodity is 600 ounce:

The first step: The net redemption value physical is calculated in US dollars:
The total value of physical redemption is in US dollars	900,000.00
Fees and expenses of physical redemption in US dollars:
Physical custody fees	(308.219)
Dealing fees	(4,500.000)
Transport and insurance fees	(279.938)
Total redemption fees and expenses physical	(5,088.157)

Transport and insurance fees	894,911.843
------------------------------	-------------

The second step: the quantity of the gold commodity that will be delivered to the physical redemption requester is calculated in kilograms and the amount of fractions that will be paid to the physical redemption requester in cash in case there are fractions in the net recovered quantity in kilograms:

The first step: The net redemption value physical is calculated in US dollars:
The net amount of the gold commodity redemption in ounce	596.608
The net amount of gold commodity redemption in kilo	18.557
The quantity that will be delivered to the redemption applicant physical, in kilo (number of gold bars)	18
Fractions	0.557
The amount of fractions that will be paid to the physical requester in cash, in USD	26,862

* The numbers mentioned in the hypothetical example have been rounded to the nearest thousands, except for the amount of fractions that will be paid to the redemption applicant in cash in US dollars, as they have been rounded to the nearest whole number.

E) Special discounts and commissions: Not applicable.

F) Information related to zakat and/or tax:

The value added tax will be applied according to the instructions of the executive regulations issued by the General Authority of Zakat and Income on all fees, expenses, charges and costs subject to value added tax. The Fund Manager is not responsible for paying the zakat on the investment units from the investors, and the Unit Holder is responsible for paying the zakat on the units he owns.

G) Any special commission concluded by the Fund Manager: Not applicable.

	Fund	Unit holder
